SEASONAL CONSIDERATIONS

As cold and flu season approaches its time to start thinking of ways your La Pine Community Health Center (LCHC), can support wellness.

LCHC is fully stocked with a wide spectrum of vaccinations. Their local, well trained staff can administer vaccinations to help ensure you and your family are protected from the full effects of seasonal, viral threats as well as many communicable diseases. Flu shots will be available after October 1st, can help reduce the risk of this year's annual strain of influenza and are particularly beneficial to the elderly, the young and those with compromised immune systems or other debilitating conditions.

The practitioners at LCHC's Christmas Valley location are also available to schedule Wellness Exams, Well Child Checks, and Physical Exams to support preventative measures and of course are at your service should you contract a cold or flu and need to be seen by a practitioner.

Here's some things you can do to help support your wellness through the winter months:

IF YOU'RE WELL, try your best to stay that way! Get plenty of rest ~ drink plenty of fluids ~ wash your hands frequently ~ cover your mouth/face when coughing or sneezing ~ stay up to date with immunizations for the whole family~ get your annual flu shot ~ schedule a wellness exam if it's been over 1 year since your last ~ come in to be seen at the onset of symptoms.

IF YOU'RE SICK keep your community in mind. Stay home and get better if you can ~ wash your hands frequently ~ cover your mouth when you cough or sneeze ~ be seen by a physician ~ when you come into the clinic put on a mask to protect others in the community, including the clinic staff (remember, they are exposed to everything everyone brings in). Remember that many patients come into the clinic with serious health conditions such as cardiac, renal, diabetic and pulmonary concerns, (or a combination of several). Putting them at risk of catching the common cold or annual flu can be life threatening.

FLOSS YOUR NERVES WITH YOGA

Gentle movement of your nerves is vital to both managing pain and supporting the general health of your nervous system. Healthy nerves should be able to slide, elongate, and angulate within the neural tissues in order to adapt to different loads and minimize pressure that can worsen existing pain or lead to new pain patterns. Certain stretches will create movement of a nerve through its pathway also known as nerve gliding or flossing.

The sciatic nerve is the largest and longest nerve in your body. It stretches from your lower back to your feet. It's also the most commonly irritated. A stretch for this nerve requires you to lie on your back with your right knee bent and towards you, bringing your foot off the floor. Now flex your right foot (toes toward you). This moves your sciatic nerve towards the end of your foot. Use your hands to grasp the back of your leg if you can, and very gently pull towards you for just a slight stretch. Then, extend your right knee (there's no need to straighten it completely), and point your foot to move your sciatic nerve toward your spine. Repeat several times then switch sides. Try this twice a day to relieve pain or once a month for prevention.

Our Yoga classes resume again the second week of October. We will be targeting the sciatic nerve with other specific, gentle movements as well as the spinal cord, femoral nerve, and median nerve. Come join us. We gather Tuesday evenings at 5:30 p.m. and Wednesday morning at 9:00 a.m. in the conference room at the clinic. Call if you have any questions or concerns.

Shawn can be reached at 541-576-2043 or 541-576-2110. We begin October 8th and 9th with chair yoga.

Easy does it!!

HALLOWEEN

A DAY ON THE FARM

by: Lee Shelton

Working on the big farm on this day,
Driving a swather trying to make hay.

Antelope came running over to see
Saying, look what the farmer cut for me!

A coyote came hurrying with bound and a bounce,
Know his lunch would only weigh only one ounce

Birds in the sky circling all around,
Looking for something to eat on the ground.

Buzzard on the pole, waiting for what's left behind,
It could be a little rotten, he wouldn't mind.

Mice and rabbits running ever which way,
Wondering if they are on the menu today!

Thanks

LEE SHELTON & Family want to say "THANKS"

To all who prayed.

Les's journey began in late May with health issues which he had to travel to Portland to have a tumor and one kidney removed. Thanks to God it was not cancer. He is home recovering.

We thank everyone for their time for the transportation to Portland and financial help

May God Bless everyone

"Christmas Valley"

By: Marjorie Alice Cowdrey Douglass

A peaceful place this Christmas Valley,
a place with many a sagebrush alley.
You will see no end to this lovely valley,
if each sagebrush you try to talley.

A place of mature and man made lake,
a piece of sentiment for us to take.
A restful atmosphere where on can wait,
no thoughts of ever being late.

The desert here is still intact
all kinds of Indian Artifact.
Wild horses, coyotes and bobcat,
the rarest of beauties, it is a fact.

Sunrises, sunsets for all to share,
the change in skies are not so rare.
Colors mixing everywhere,
they soon disperse in deserts air.

When the skies are filled with geese,
their honks and calls give inner peace.
as they glide in on the lakes with ease.
Will natures wonders ever cease?

Yes, Christmas Valley is a restful place,
lying here in splendid grace.
Movement here at a snails pace,
gives a look of contentment on each ones face.

School Bond Update

Much has happened since our school bond passed in the May election last spring. Things have been moving at such a rapid pace, it was difficult to express where we were at any specific moment. Since May, we have been on two separate (but related) tracks. But here is an update on both:

1. The Financial path:

May/June: Bond sales are a very specific and “specialized” form of investment. It involves a multitude of federal and state guidelines; it involves the Security Exchange Commission and requires specialists to navigate the process. We contracted with a bond attorney and a bond financial advisor to guide us through this process.

June/July: Our school and community finances were evaluated by specialists in the bond arena and our school received a formal bond rating of “A” in this investment market. An “A” is common for schools. It took about two months of assessments and evaluations to prepare for the bond sales.

August: Our bond sales took place on August 6 in Portland and involved a stock market style approach. Investors and coordinators were from all across the United States. This was an impressive process to be a part of. Our bonds sold within an hour and at a good investment rate for buyers – which was good for us as well.

August/September: Most of our financial posturing is near completion with the exception of the Matching funds from the state. This is an ongoing process and could take months since this side of the bond is more of a reimbursement process.

We are in very good shape financially and this path is moving forward, sometimes rather quickly and at other times at a what seems to be at a snail's pace.

2. The Construction path: The construction process is about as complicated as the financial track. Many significant state and federal laws and guidelines apply to schools. We needed people with knowledge of these requirements to lead our efforts.

May: Following the May election, we immediately sat down with a consultant (with 20 plus years' experience in school bonds sales, planning and school construction procedures). We have consulted with individual several times in the last three years. His cost? One mileage reimbursement from Bend (about $100.00) and two dinner tickets to the Cowboy Dinner tree – this was a gift and not a bill.

June: Following his visit, we secured a Project Manager to oversee our project. We have hired Mike Tiller from Bend as our project manager. Mike has 12 years' experience overseeing school construction projects. Most of our steps in the construction process will be under Mike's direction.

July: Working with Mike Tiller and several staff and community members we advertised and accepted proposals from various architects and ultimately recommended to the School Board the firm of Scott Steele and Associates (Bend) as our architect. Scott has many years in the area of school design and knows the market and construction side as well.

August: Using a similar process, we advertised and reviewed several contractor proposals. We ultimately recommended to the School Board the firm of Griffin Construction from Prineville. Griffin also has many years of experience in school and public building construction.

September/October/November: With a Project Manager, Architect and Contractor all on board we are now meeting with them and with selected staff to put final designs on all aspects of our school improvement projects. This could take a couple of months.

3. What's next: The final design, architectural plans and fine tuning process could take until November. Following the completion of the design team's efforts, we hope to be able to submit designs and request permits in December. This could take several months to complete. We anticipate breaking ground in May, 2020.

This has been an exciting and highly specialized process to be a part of. If you have questions about our process or how we got to this point, please contact me at North Lake School.

Best wishes,

David Kerr
Superintendent

CBD: Plant Medicine Part 5

SMOKING OR VAPORIZING

“Flower” refers to the Trichome - covered part of a female cannabis plant. Smoking or vaping flower is that the effect is felt almost immediately, making self - regulation of dosage fairly easy. If you don’t want to smoke or have health issues, you can put flower into an electronic device that heats dried flower to vapor. (Vaporizer)

CBD OIL CAPSULES:

“Canna Caps” contain a concentrated extraction of CBD. Fast - acting because they’re so easy to metabolize, they’re also discreet and the dosage is easy to control. Usually results are in 4 - 6 hours.

CBD OIL TINCTURES:

Extracted from flower or plant material using alcohol, oil, or veg. glycerin. Drops under tongue, CBD absorbs immediately into blood stream. Buyer beware: A product labeled “hemp oil” is not always a CBD product. Read label carefully to see how much CBD it contains. Hemp seed oil contains NO CBD unless added.

CBD LOTIONS:

There are many lotions made with CBD for pain relief. Check dispensaries and ask about pain relievers. I use one on my ankle and love it. It kills the arthritis pain and takes the swelling down within minutes! Mine is liberty lotion - CBD with Arnica in it. There is a place in Bend, Oregon call “Strictly CBD”. They have lotions that work as well.

CBD INFUSED EDIBLES:

From Chocolate to gummies to beverages, CBD Edibles come in all forms and varieties. They take more time to take effect. 1 - 3 hours effects last approximately 4 - 8 hours

I have learned a lot doing this article and hope it helps a lot of you understand more about the benefits of our natural medical resources. I have used CBD’s for some time, but still had questions that doing this has answered.

Enjoy and God be with you.

Linda

Do you have a little one, age birth to three years old, who doesn't meet the requirements for Preschool on Tuesdays? You and your child are invited to join Mrs. Anthony on the first and third Thursdays of each month from 10:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. at the North Lake School annex building for a Mommy and Me Play Group. "We will be exploring our world around us through music, movement, and sensory play," says Mrs. Anthony. "We will also be doing Make and Take activities once a month that you can do with your kiddos at home."

If you have questions, please call Mrs. Anthony at 503-351-7855.
